

<https://weiss-aug.com/job/engineering-co-op/>

Engineering Co-Op

Description

This position will contribute a combination of strong technical skills and business acumen to the Medical Products team.

Responsibilities

- Assist Medical Program Management team in development of new insert molding, metal stamping, and assembly applications
- Develop and test manufacturing processes, with emphasis on quality and precision
- Support new process implementation
- Conduct studies to troubleshoot and optimize quality of products
- Support Product Design & Development for existing programs
- Assist in Product Design & Development to win new business opportunities through development of innovative solutions
- Investigate new manufacturing technologies and methods

Qualifications

- Mechanically Inclined
- Advanced knowledge of SolidWorks
- Ability to be self-directed and work independently
- Flexibility and versatility to perform different or new tasks
- Strong analytic skills to find solutions for complex problems
- Good interpersonal skills to be used within the various groups of the Weiss Aug organization

Hiring organization

Weiss-Aug Group

Employment Type

Intern

Job Location

6 Daniel Rd, Fairfield, NJ

Date posted

July 14, 2022